

EDITOR'S FOREWORD

I'm pleased to tell that NJC will start awarding the Carl-Erik Fröberg Prize for young Nordic authors of distinguished papers published in NJC. The Prize will be given for the next time in 1997 for a paper that has been published in 1994 – 1996. For more detailed information concerning the Prize I refer to the announcement at the end of the present issue. Our potential Nordic authors should note that a paper submitted to NJC in a couple of months from now still has good chances to get processed and printed by the end of 1996.

Also I would express the gratitude of our Board of Editors to the BIT Foundation for its decision to continue the Carl-Erik Fröberg Prize as a joint activity of BIT Numerical Mathematics and NJC.
